NJ MEDIATOR

RESOLUTION SERVICES, LLC

NJ MEDIATOR provides a dispute resolution process in which an impartial third party - the mediator - facilitates negotiations among the parties to help them reach a mutually acceptable settlement. Through the Mediator and with the assistance of their attorneys, the parties work towards a solution in which everyone involved is comfortable. Compared to traditional avenues of dispute resolution, NJ MEDIATOR provides the parties an opportunity to avoid significant costs and delays in a forum which is more economical, quicker and less confrontational. Mediation also allows the parties to have greater participation in the process and control over the outcome of their case, as well as enhanced privacy and confidentiality.

John F. Gelson, Esq., the founder of NJ MEDIATOR, is one of the most experienced and successful Mediators in the State of New Jersey. In 1995, he was chosen by the New Jersey Supreme Court to assist in developing an ADR process which offered a viable alternative to the Court System. Since that time, his practice has been primarily devoted to serving as a Mediator and Arbitrator in Civil matters and as a Court-Appointed Receiver and Discovery Master. In addition to serving as a Mediator in employment disputes, contract and personal injury matters, he is one of the few Mediators in the State with extensive experience in mediating and arbitrating complex construction disputes. He has mediated over 800 cases, approximately 85% to settlement.

He has been named in New Jersey Monthly magazine as one of the top Mediators in the State in the field of mediation/arbitration each year from 2005 - 2011. He was recently selected as one of "New York Area's Best Lawyers" by New York Magazine in the field of Alternative Dispute Resolution. In 2010 and 2011 he was selected for inclusion in Best Lawyers in America in the field of Construction and Employment Litigation.
